Hywind Project and Forties Pipeline

Following my letter of the 21st December 2016 where I advised that Hywind may undertake certain preparatory works and may install certain fixed equipment (such as the installation of the wind turbine mooring system) before the completion of the rock dumping works, I can now advise that a fully-termed agreement between BP and Statoil (as the operator of Hywind) in respect of the rock dumping works for the protection of the Forties Pipeline has been concluded. The fully-termed agreement has been agreed in accordance with the contract signed by both BP and Hywind (Scotland) Ltd in September 2015. The rock dumping works are planned to commence before the end of March.

Yours faithfully,

John Murphie
